Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 17 Nov 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Windy and mild with occasional rain or drizzle.

Today:
Often rather cloudy with scattered showers through the morning, these most frequent across Lancashire and Cumbria. Less showers and a bit more in the way of hazy sunshine by the afternoon. Generally quite breezy. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
A few clear spells during the evening, but cloud amounts increasing from the west, with outbreaks of rain and drizzle developing in many areas. Remaining mild, but windy. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Thursday:
A damp start, but any rain or drizzle becoming largely confined to windward coasts and hills. That said, it will remain predominantly cloudy for most. Very mild, but windy. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Mild, windy and damp in places on Friday and Saturday, though winds easing by Saturday. A brief spell of rain on Saturday night, then colder and brighter on Sunday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.